(Verse 1)

In the bleakness of a lonely night, love turned to tears,
Broken hearts, in the dark, hoping the spark will reappear
Looking through a broken pane, face to face but separate
Each one wishing for the other

(Verse 2)

Promises are fragile glass, handle them with care
Memories linger, of the past, reflections everywhere
Refracting, bending, separating, into smaller parts
Shattering all they built together, breaking both their hearts

(Chorus)

Broken hearts, shattered dreams,
Lost in the echoes of silent screams,
Hoping for a sunrise after endless night,
To mend the pieces, to make it right.

(Bridge)

Time may heal, but scars remain,
Lessons learned through the ache and pain,
Strength emerges from the brokenness,
A new chapter unfolds, a chance to bless.

(Chorus)

Broken hearts, shattered dreams,
Found in the beauty of moonlit beams,
Embracing the dawn with hopeful sights,
Healing the wounds, igniting new lights.
